

CHAPTER TWO

THE OLD MAN IN BLACK

UCHIHA NARUTO: THE SAGE . VOLUME ONE

A wide shot of a room with wood-paneled walls. Two men in dark blue jumpsuits and green vests are sitting on dark green armchairs. Between them is a low wooden table with several rolled-up scrolls and small wooden cups. The man on the left is holding a cup and looking towards the man on the right. A window on the right shows a sunset or sunrise.

Another Tenth
of October. The whole village
will be drinking tonight.

Some of them will do more than drink.

A close-up of a young boy with spiky blonde hair and blue eyes. He is wearing a blue headband with goggles and an orange jacket. He has a serious, slightly concerned expression.

You mean
the Uzumaki
boy.

A medium shot of the man from the first panel, now shown in profile. He is gesturing with his right hand, palm facing forward, as if making a point or explaining something. The background shows the wood-paneled wall and a door.

Keep your voice down.
The Sandaime
made it law.

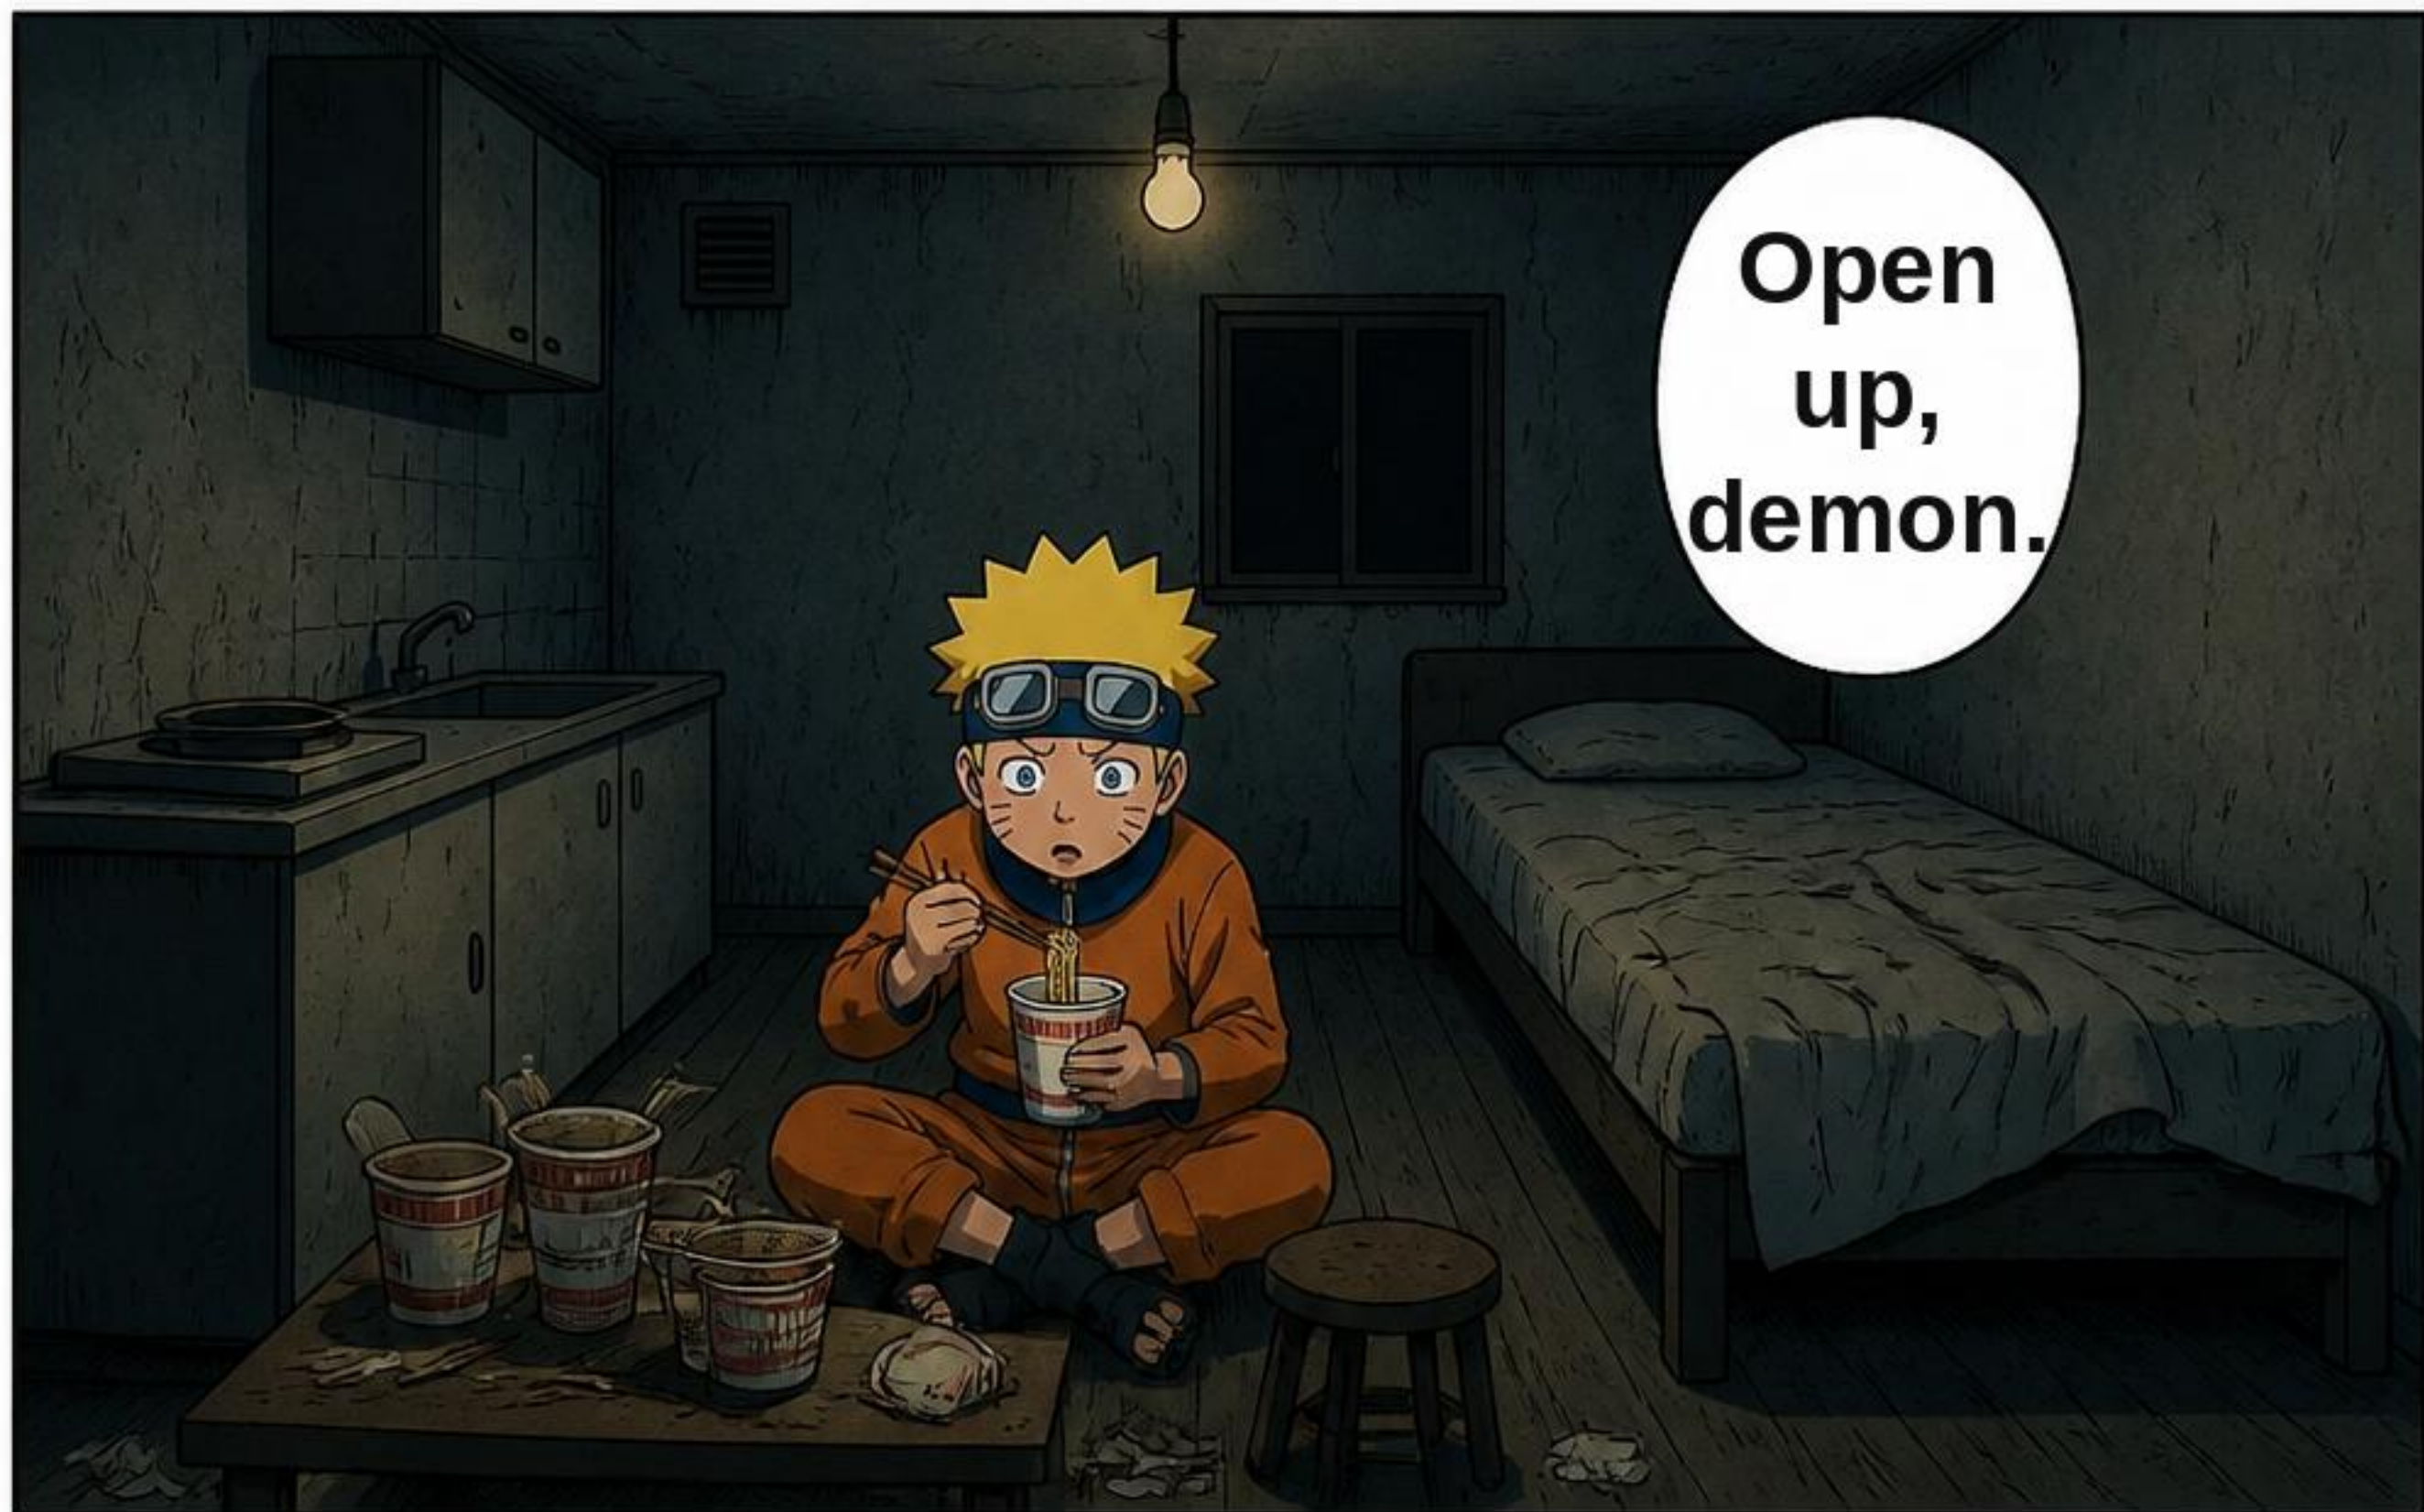

Nowhere
left to run,
brat.

Not so many of us
tonight.

Doesn't take many.

...Savior?

Your savior.

Why did you save me? No one in this village does that for me.

I could not stand and watch foolish men beat a child.

Then at least tell me your name.

My name is... Madara.

Madara. I won't forget.

