

CHAPTER TWO

THE OLD MAN IN BLACK

UCHIHA NARUTO: THE SAGE . VOLUME ONE

A wide shot of a room with wood-paneled walls. Two men in dark blue jumpsuits and green tactical vests are sitting on dark green armchairs. Between them is a low wooden table with several rolled-up scrolls and small wooden cups. The man on the left is holding a cup and looking towards the man on the right. A window on the right shows a sunset or sunrise.

Another Tenth
of October. The whole village
will be drinking
tonight.

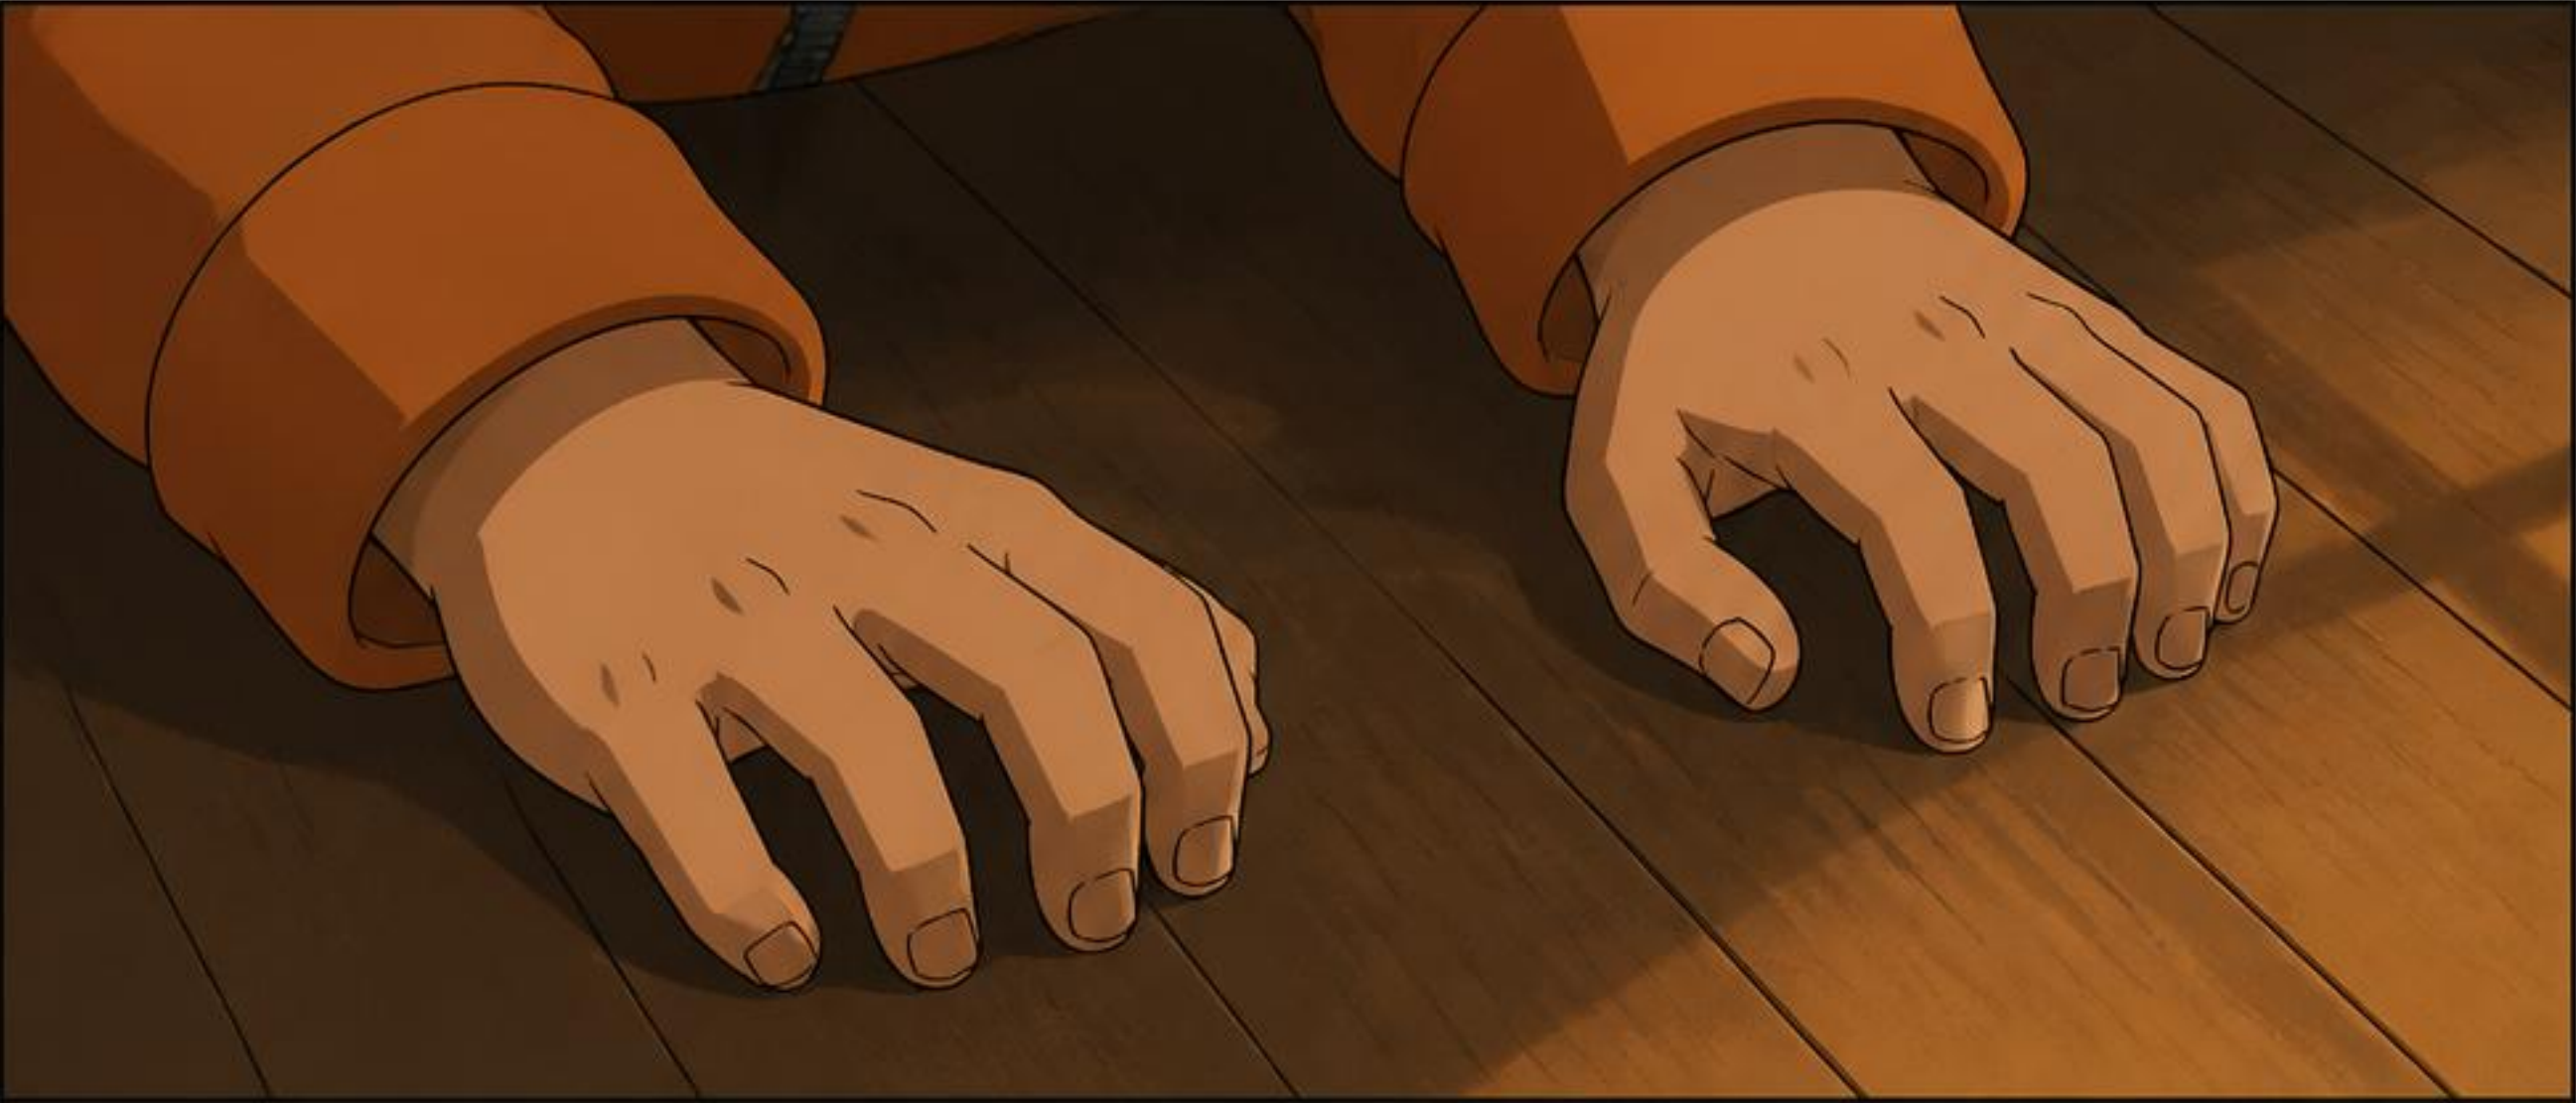

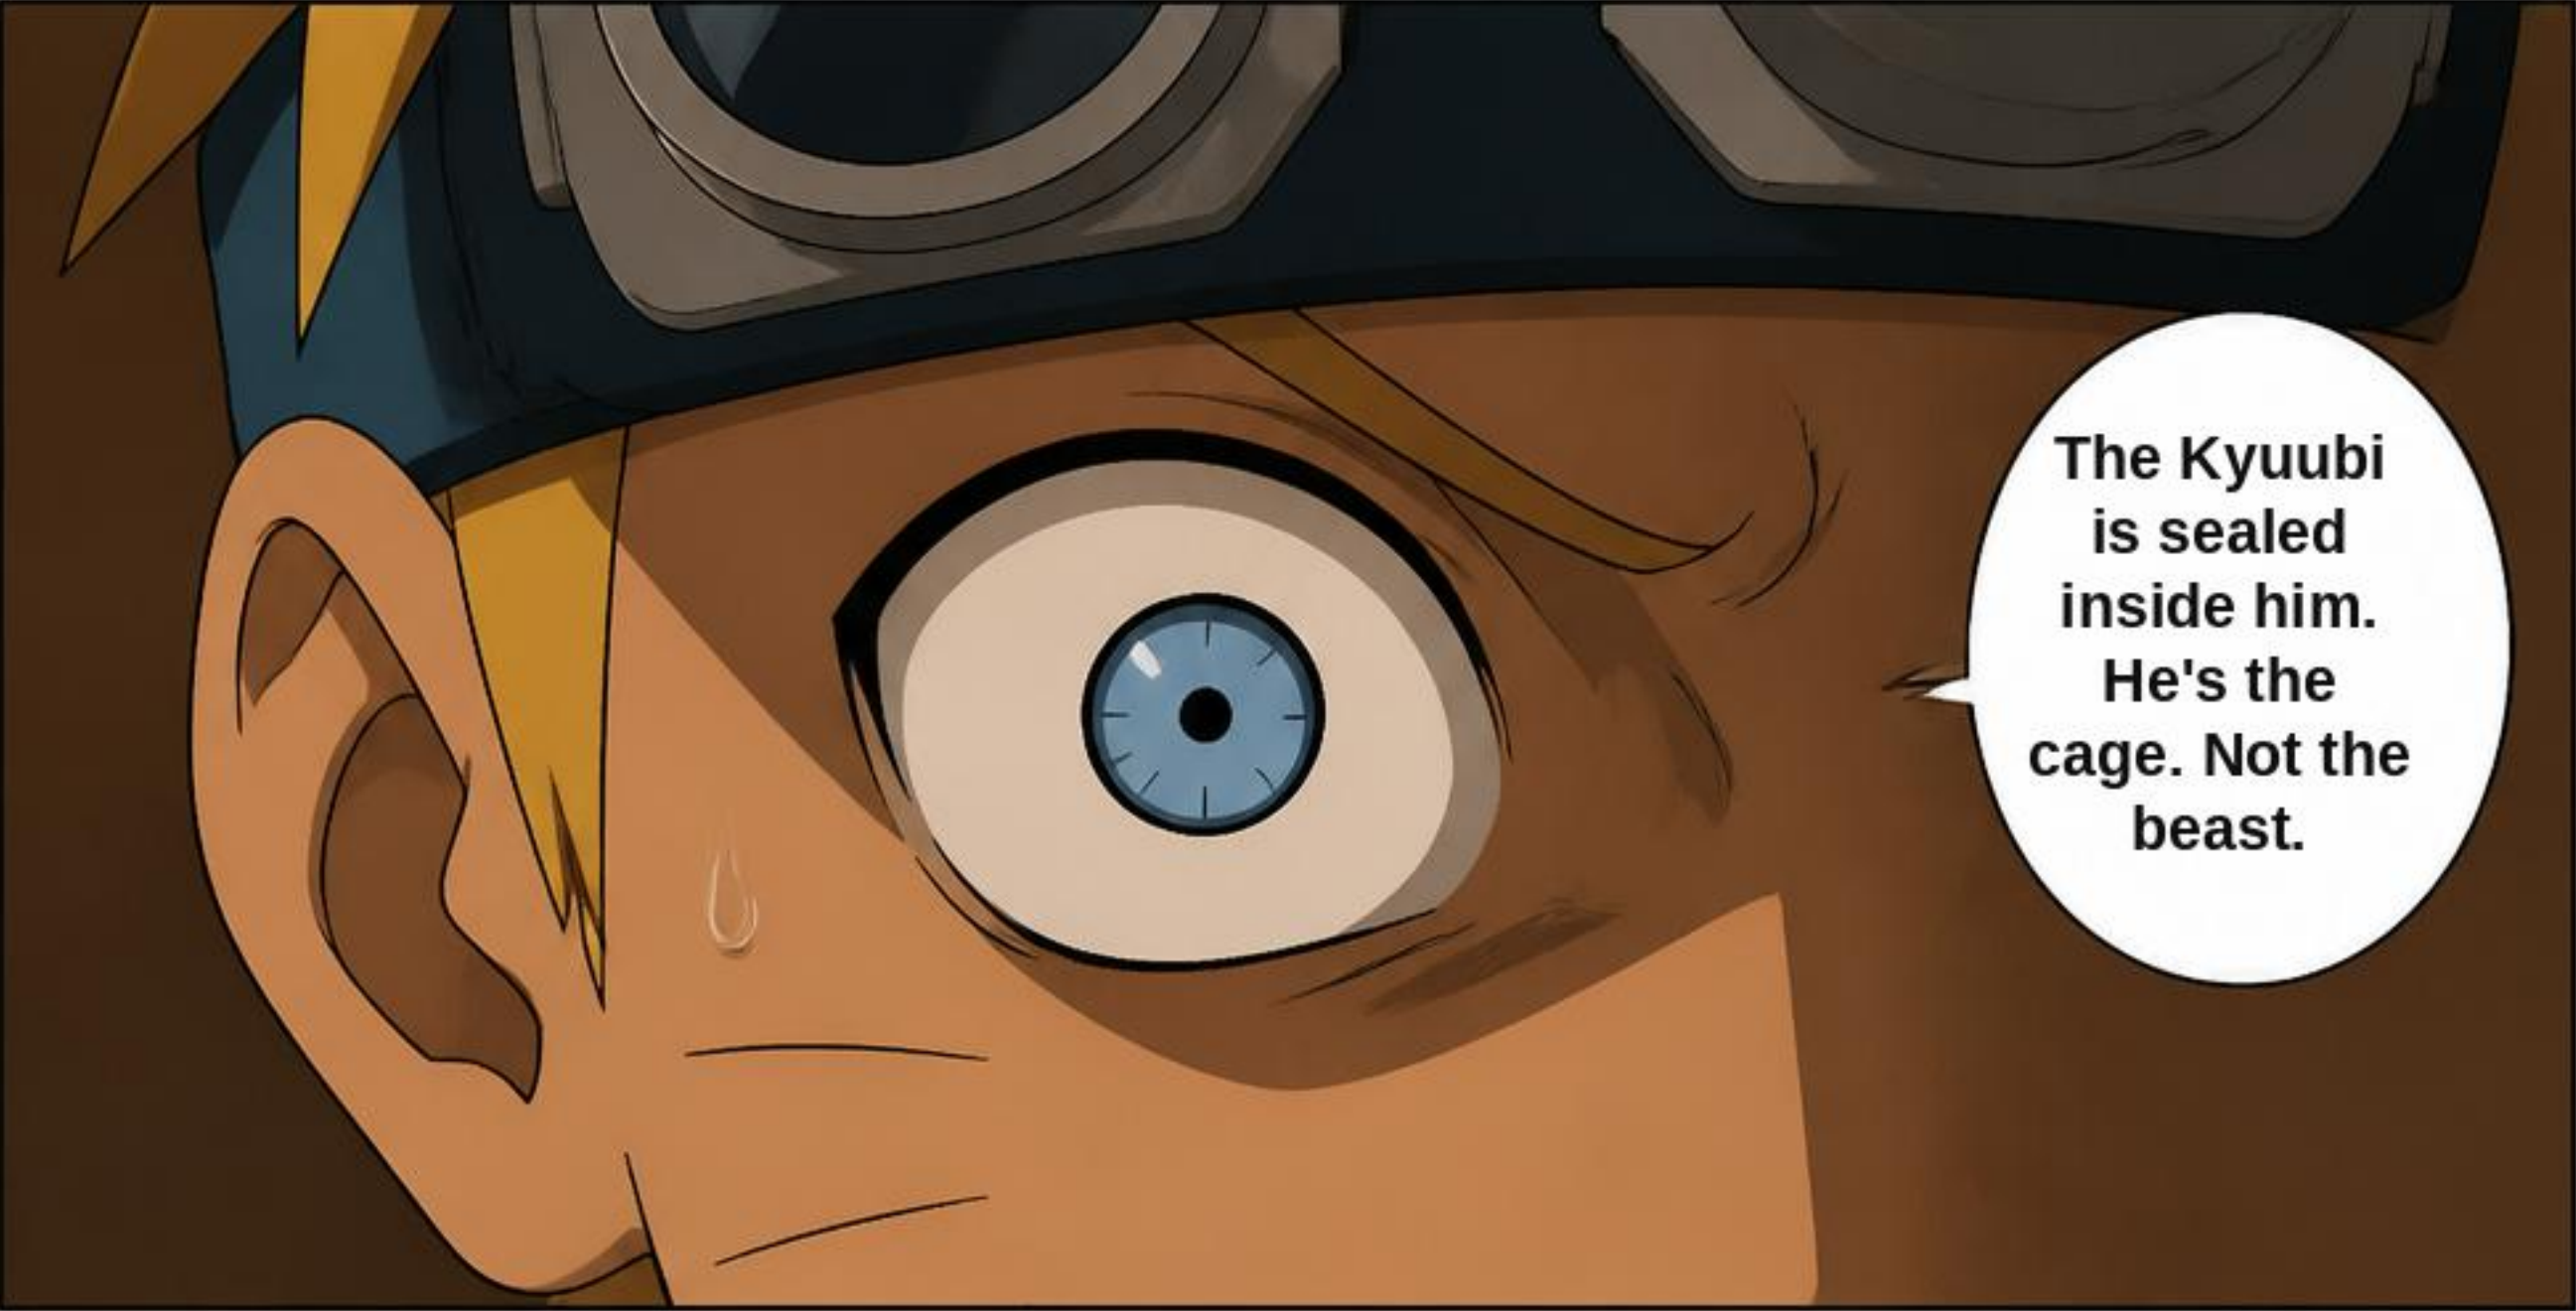

Some of
them will
do more
than drink.

A close-up of a young boy with spiky blonde hair, blue eyes, and a blue headband with goggles. He is wearing an orange zip-up jacket. He has a serious, slightly worried expression on his face.

You mean
the Uzumaki
boy.

A medium shot of the man from the first panel, now shown in profile. He is gesturing with his right hand, palm facing forward, as if making a point or explaining something. The background shows the wood-paneled wall and a door.

Keep your
voice down.
The Sandaime
made it law.

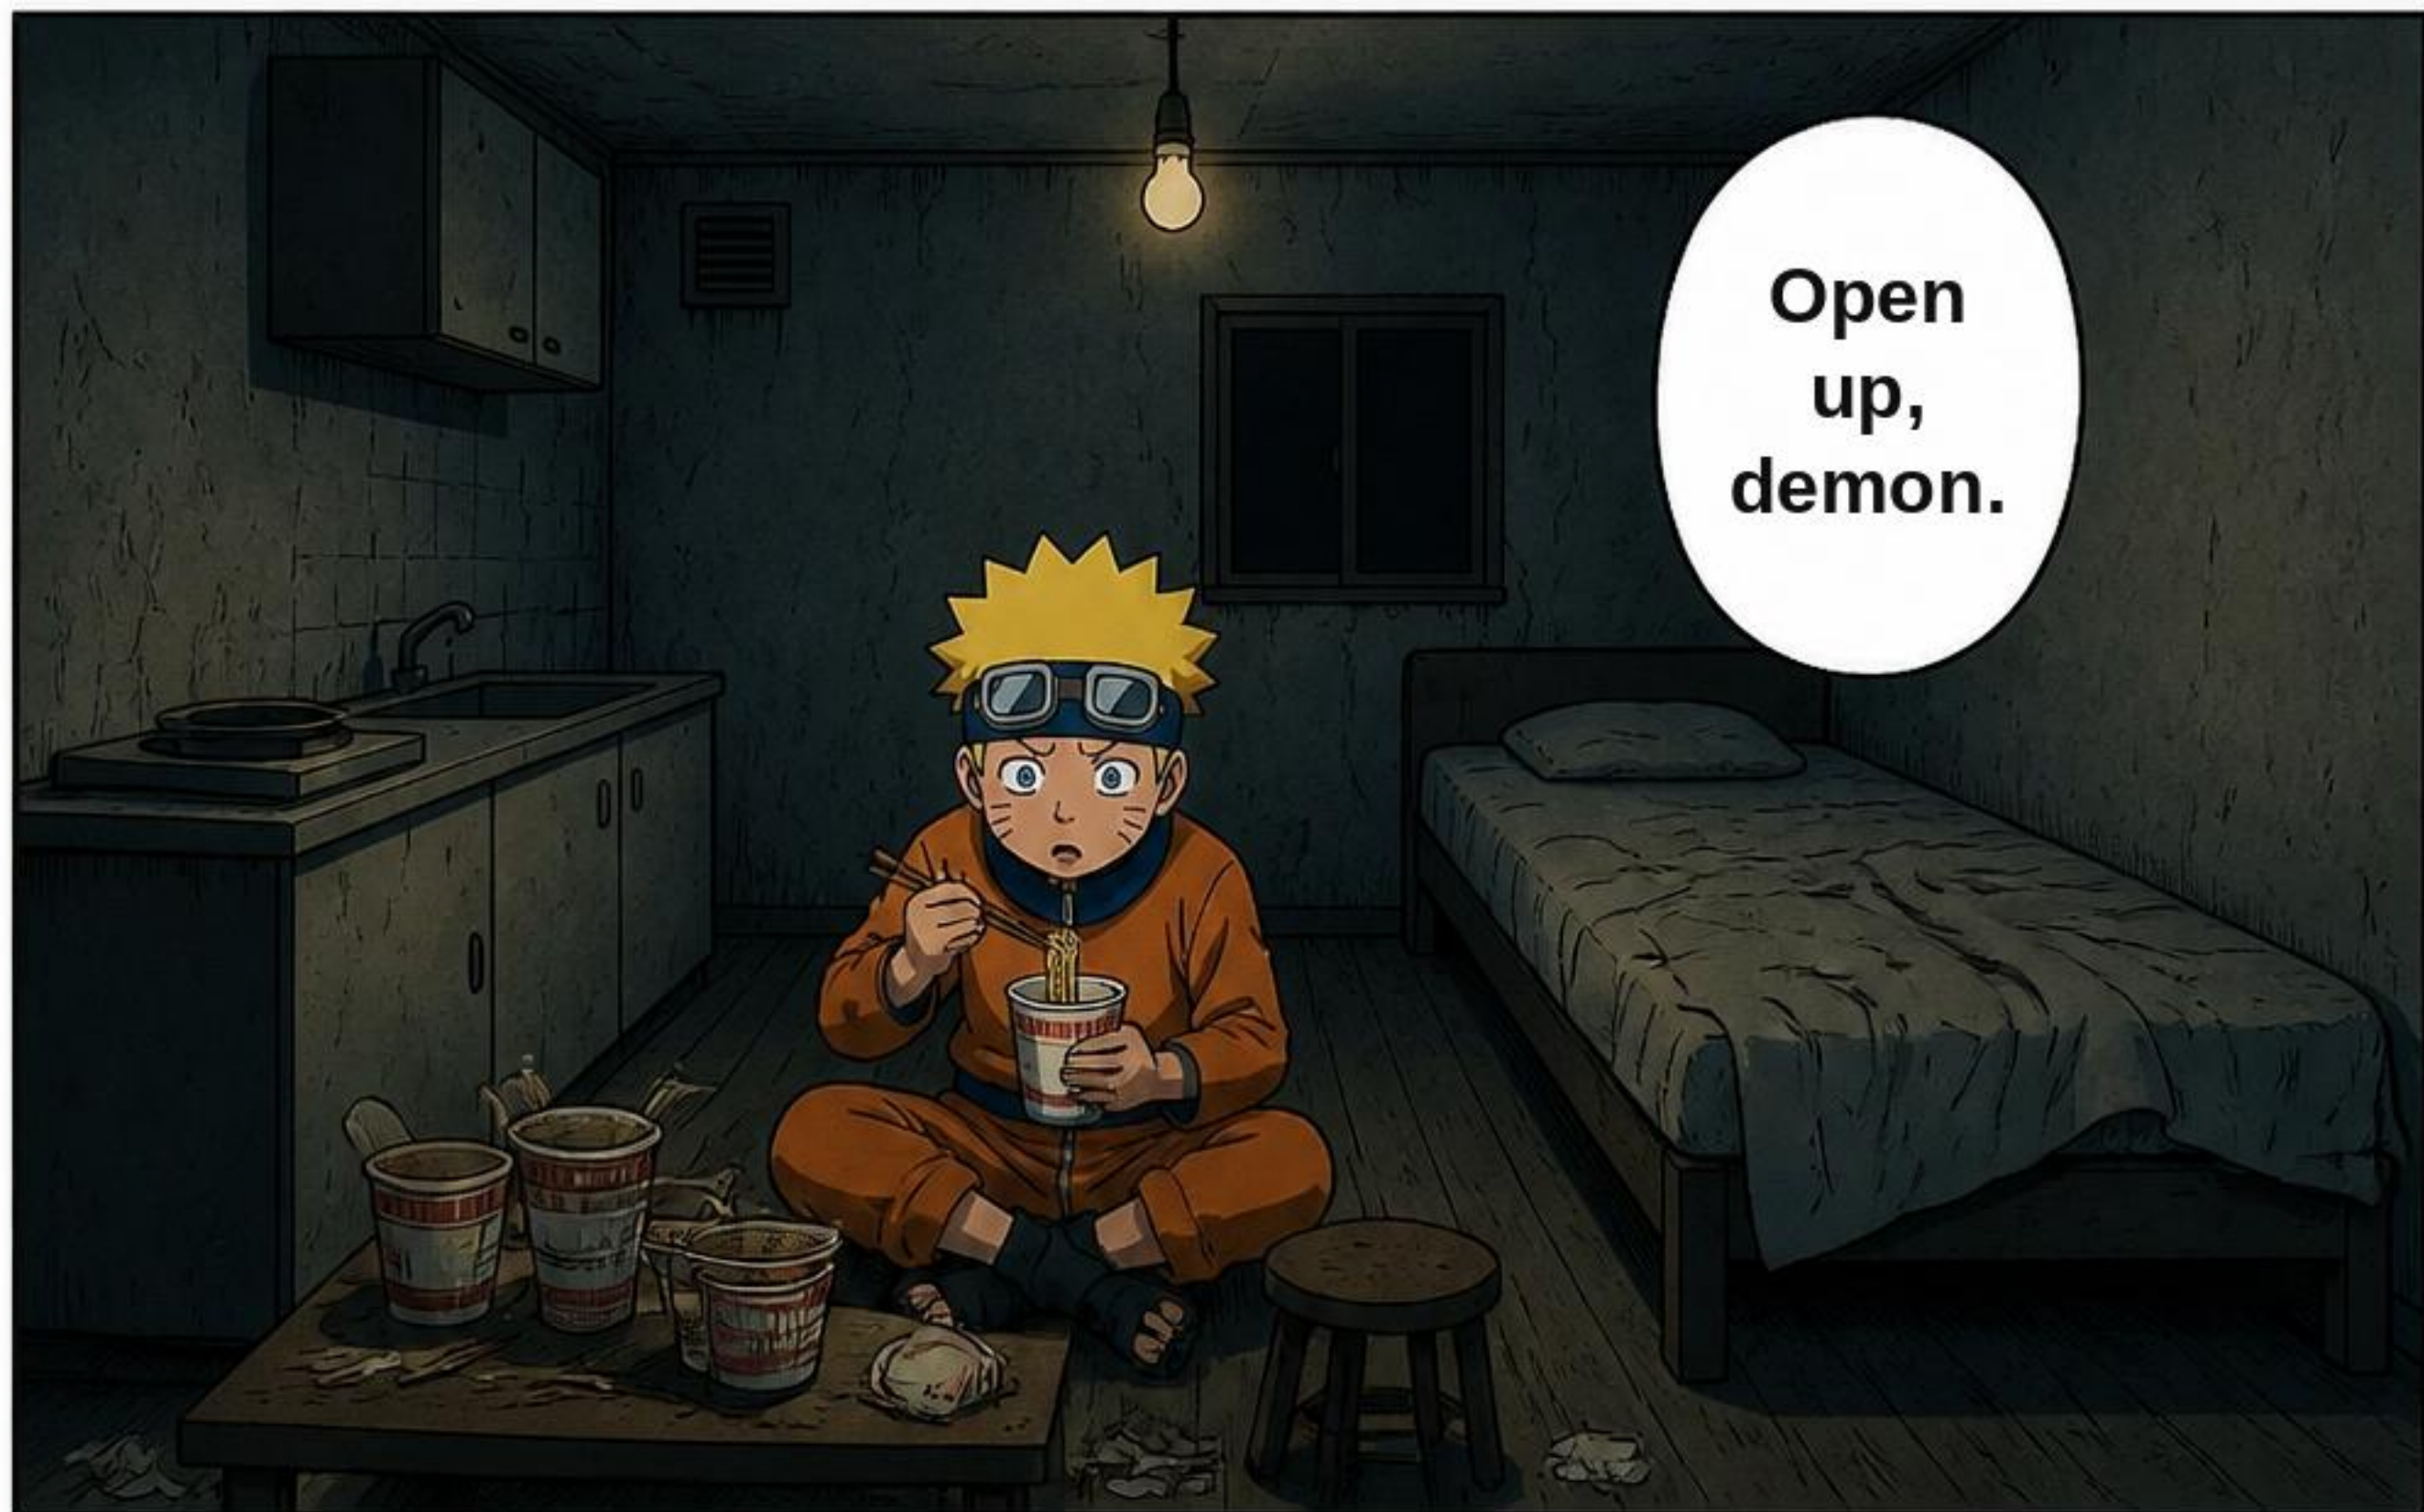

Open
up,
demon.

We
know
you're
in there.

Come
on,
then.
Outside.

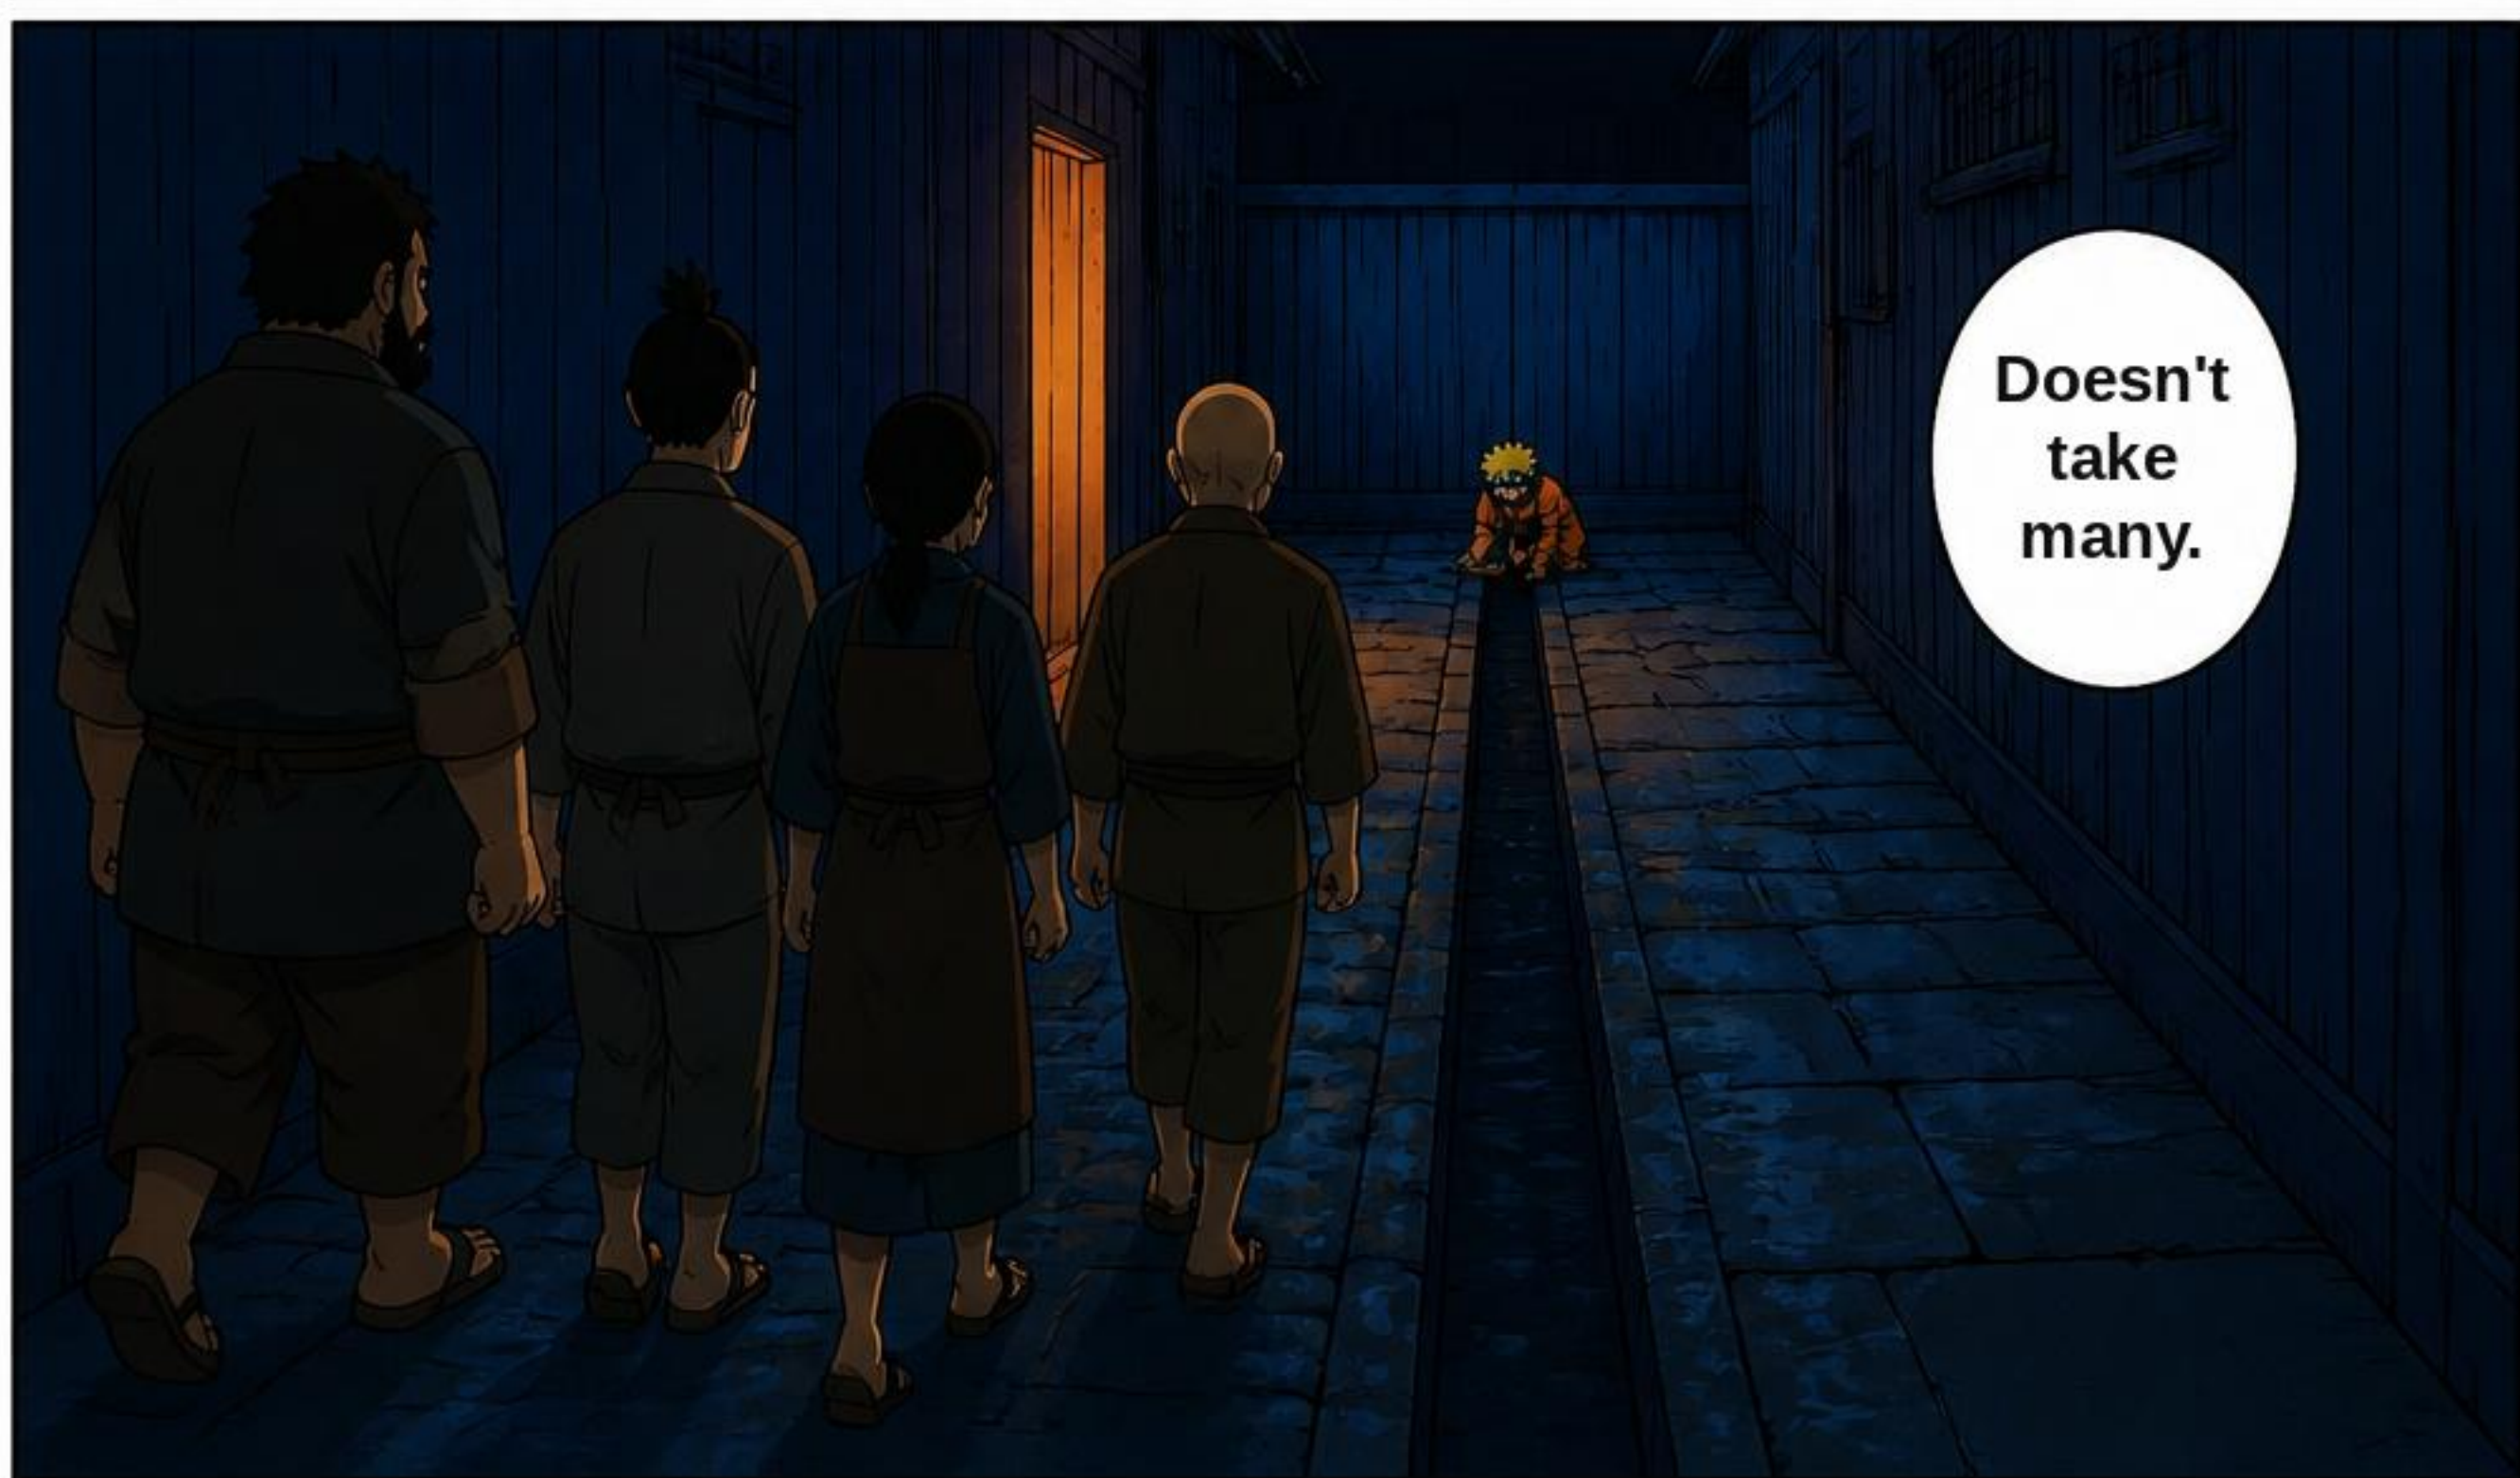

Nowhere
left to
run,
brat.

Not so
many
of us
tonight.

Doesn't
take
many.

...Savior?

Your savior.

Why did you
save me? No
one in this village does
that for me.

I could not stand and
watch foolish
men beat a
child.

Don't tell
your Hokage
anything
about me.

If he asks,
you didn't
see who
saved you.

...Okay. I
won't.

Then at least tell me your name.

My name is... Madara.

Madara. I won't forget.

